AURA

Every call answered.
Your hour back.

Aura is the receptionist on your business number. It picks up in your name, books the visit, and leaves the message on your desk. You stay with the customer in front of you. The next job is already written down.

THE CALL

It answers in your business name, day or night. It asks the questions for your trade, books the right visit for the right length, and takes the name and the number.

THE TIME

The morning is yours again. Aura takes "what time are you free?" and the callback. You stay on the tools, in the chair, or with the client.

THE WORK

That caller is on your diary, ready for you. Tell Aura who to phone, at what time, and what to say. Aura makes the call and keeps the business in your name.

Your number. Answered.
Your day. Your customers.
